

Job offer as Student Assistant

The Machine Listening Lab (MLL) works on a biologically inspired auditory model for machine listening which matches the human hearing ability. It closely collaborates with the Cognitive Systems Lab (CSL) at the University of Bremen. For this project, we are looking for a student assistant.

Source: <https://www.vocal.com/wp-content/uploads/2019/09/cocktail-party-problem.jpg>

Fields of activity

- Research work
- Software implementation and data preparation
- Preparation and carrying out of experiments

Requirements

- Fundamentals in machine learning and data science
- Experience in Python
- Motivation, reliability, personal responsibility, willingness to learn new topics

Additional information

- Starting from May 1st, 2024
- Salary is based on working hours
- Vacation days
- Language: German/English
- Most topics can be extended to a bachelor or master thesis

Contact

Marvin Borsdorf

☎ 0421-218-64291

✉ marvin.borsdorf@uni-bremen.de

Apply now !!